PUBLIC COMMENTS

Negly Hernandez was present from About Change and wanted to ask about human rights training. Negly stated that their assigned licensing specialist was coming to their program to do a site review and had previously advised the provider that the providers every three years human rights training (from an outside company) was not sufficient to meet the current human rights regulations. It was confirmed that provider are required to provide human rights training annual and to include a competency assessment as a part of the training. The provider was invited to contact the regional manager to attend the new provider orientation where this information is reviewed.

No other public comments offered.
